

James Bailey ('03 Business Administration, '04 MS Financial Engineering)
Chair-Elect & Chair - Committee on Investments

James earned a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in finance in 2003 and a Master of Science degree in financial engineering in 2004, both from Kent State. His wife, Kelly J. Bailey, earned a Bachelor of Science in Education degree in middle childhood education from Kent State in 2004. James is the senior institutional client advisor for PNC Capital Advisors, LLC, a subsidiary of PNC Financial Services Group, LLC, a Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania-based financial institution. He also teaches part time at Cleveland State University. James is the treasurer of the Kent State Alumni Association National Board of Directors, and he and Kelly are life members of the Kent State University Alumni Association. He was a member of the advisory board for Kent State's financial engineering program, which is no longer in existence.

Spouse: Kelly '04